

CENTER FOR VETERINARY HEALTH SCIENCES Friday Bit for Alumni and Friends

PARALYSIS ANALYSIS »

Over-analyzing is an action kill, in effect paralyzing outcomes.

It's true, we sometimes fall prey to the full-stop. (The End.) Forbes quote of the day says, "Clarity comes from engagement, not from thinking about it." - Marie Forleo.

Decisions for positive impact come down to the reflection of values and intentions that identify us as a person. At CVHS, there are so many priority needs to navigate all day, every day. We find ourselves getting bogged down in the details. So, here's a toolkit to jump-start that action choice in the love month.

Connect today. A decision by one leader has far-reaching impact. Break a stalemate not a heart.

Convey your decision. Engage others to join you. Love is contagious.

Convince. Cupid calling. It's launch time.

[I borrowed the philosophy of the three "C's" from a friend and alumnus extraordinaire, Thomas Loafmann ('63). Embellishments are mine.]

A few of our ♥'s desires....

Panciera Project - A building to provide teaching space for additional students. Contact Chris Sitz, OSU Foundation at 405-385-5170 email - We might call this one tough love.

Ophthalmology - The Princess is seeing a void. Outdated equipment is breaking down mid-surgery. We have no back-up. Sight is pretty lovable, agree?

Alumni Affairs - Don't be indifferent. It's the opposite of love.

Hit reply if any of these options light your fire.

FOR THE LOVE OF RESEARCH »

Companion animals are the heart of love and CVHS has a program for that doubling as a practice-builder for practitioners. The program acknowledges the loss of client companion animals through contributions supporting research improving the quality of animal and public health. To enroll in the program contact me via reply.
